Grand Jury Called Into Session Thurs.

The Hempstead County Grand Jury has been called into session beginning Thursday, May 11, at 9 a.m. In issuing the call Judge Lyle Brown stated that the purpose was five-fold:

1. To inspect the county property, including all public buildings and personally property belonging to the county;
2. To determine if there has been any willful and corrupt misconduct in office of public officers of every description in the county;
3. To examine the accounts of all collecting officers who handle public funds;
4. To prepare a report of their findings relative to items one, two and three, which report shall be made public;
5. To hear any complaints from any citizen relative to the administration of any and all county affairs.

"In 1937," Judge Brown said, "by vote of the people, the power to indict law violators was vested in the Prosecuting Attorney. This did away with the necessity of continually having the grand jury in session. But this law did not abolish the grand jury and it is the policy of this court to call a grand jury at reasonable intervals, or when the need is apparent, to consider those matters over which they still have jurisdiction."

Judge Brown said he hoped that the grand jury would receive the unsolicited cooperation of all citizens who have knowledge of any matters which they feel the jury should consider.

The panel is composed of 25 citizens from which a working panel of 16 will be selected. They are: Duffie Day Booth, Brooks Shults, Harold Bobo, C. J. Rowe, Elmer Neighbors, Milam Green, Corbin Foster, Harold Stephens, I. A. Whaley, Frank King, Roy Fry, Ed McCorkle, Guy Grigg, R. L. Broach, Ralph Montgomery, Clifford Russell, J. Harold Ingram, W. H. Etter, B. G. Hopson, John L. Hawkins, R. D. Huffman, Herbert Burns, Sloman Goodlett, Finis Odum and George Walden.

The panel was selected by Judge Commissioners appointed by Judge Brown, the commissioners being Bill Wray, Gene Bruck and N. B. Coleman.

Castro May Be Gentle to Prisoners

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro may be using gentle persuasion rather than harsh treatment on prisoners taken in the Cochinos Bay invasion in an effort to convert them into supporters of his revolution.

Reports in the government-controlled press say about 1,000 prisoners are living in comparative luxury at the Sports Palace in Marianao just outside Havana.

If true, the newspaper reports indicate the invaders have been singled out for special treatment. Other accounts of prison treatment depict thousands of Cubans arrested in post invasion roundups have been jammed into makeshift jails with little food or sanitary facilities. Prisoners seen on television showed no effects of any ill-treatment.

The Cuban press says the captured invaders have been given such amenities as toothpaste, toothbrushes and laundry service. This contrasts with earlier predictions that all would be taken out and shot.

With a display of forgiving magnanimity, Castro may be hoping to set the stage for a dramatic announcement that a large part of the captured force has formally renounced its aim of overthrowing Castro's government and now supports his "Socialist" state.

Space Traveler Welcomed by Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today pinned a hero's medal on the nation's first spaceman, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.

The President told Shepard the nation is proud of him and his fellow spacemen.

The 5,100-mile an hour flight through space last Friday, Kennedy said, was a common effort to which many contributed.

"I want to express on behalf of us all the great pleasure we have in welcoming Cmdr. Shepard and Mrs. Shepard here today," Kennedy said in greeting the couple on the White House lawn.

He added that everyone appreciates "the great service he has rendered our country."

"And we are also proud of Mrs. Shepard," Kennedy went on. He praised the other six astronauts and emphasized that "this was a common effort in which many men were involved."

"So I think we'll give them all a hand," the President said.

The bystanders did.

"I also want to pay a particular tribute to some who worked on this flight," Kennedy said, naming a number of National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials who worked on the flight that carried Shepard 115 miles into space Friday.

As he ticked off the roll of NASA officials Kennedy observed that the names are not to be familiar.

"If the flight had not been a success, the names would have been very familiar," he said with a smile.

He noted also that the flight was made under conditions of full publicity, in a free society, willing to "risk much and gain much."

Shepard, his wife and the six men he beat out for the honor of the first American space trip had just flown to the White House by helicopter from Andrews Air Force Base in suburban Maryland. The astronauts flew in from Grand Bahama Island where Shepard had been under observation after his history-making feat. Mrs. Shepard was flown in just ahead of them from Virginia Beach, Va.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard said today the flight which made him America's first spaceman will encourage him and his associates to press on with the program of exploration.

"All in all, we were very much pleased with the flight, very much encouraged, and we intend to press ahead with the program," he told his first news conference.

Shepard began his talk to the assembled newsmen by introducing his wife and parents, who were in the audience. He also introduced "my sister Polly," Mrs. Gorman Sherman, who responded with a fighter's over-the-head handshake. Shepard also presented his wife's parents.

He said he considers there are several significant things about the flight last Friday from Cape Canaveral.

"We feel very strongly that this particular flight was one that was certainly accomplished in the open," he said. "We had very few secrets about our plans. Launch date was classified, but very few other things were. This was a little anomaly at times, but I think we rationalized it by considering that the free society that made possible this flight and Project Mercury, certainly had a right to be informed."

"He said the possibility of 'speeding this up because of other events'—possibly a reference to the Soviet man in space accomplishment—was considered, but not all the speed-up was adopted."

Shepard said he was surprised that the lift-off for the flight was as smooth as it was.

"I had expected more noise and more vibration. It was a very pleasant lift-off."

He noted that he actually controlled the vehicle at times. He said that he had controlled the reentry into the earth's atmosphere.

"We are very much pleased with the flight," he said, and added that all the astronauts look forward to the future of Project Mercury and its completion.

Shepard said he made the remark, "Oh what a beautiful view," after he first took hold of the controls and was able to look through the periscope.

Tornadoes, Floods in State Leave 8 Dead, Damage $10 Million

Many Homeless as Storms Hit Eight States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes and sudden floods brewed from violent thunderstorms hit a broad mid-continent area with death, injury and property damage during the weekend.

The twister menace persisted, with Plano, Tex., hit today by a small tornado which added to millions of dollars in the destruction toll, but caused no injuries. Several buildings in the town of 3,700 about 15 miles north of Dallas, were damaged.

Hundreds of persons were left homeless in eight states by the twin-pronged weather scourge.

The flash floods and severe weather, including tornadoes, gusty winds, heavy rain and hail, were blamed for at least 29 deaths. Nearly 100 persons were injured.

The American Red Cross in St. Louis said arrangements were made to provide food, clothing, medical care and emergency shelter for an estimated 1,000 families in north central Arkansas, southeast Missouri, northeast Oklahoma, southern Illinois and Kansas.

Severe thunderstorms continued during the morning in many areas from Oklahoma and Kansas northward through the middle and upper Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes region.

Tornadoes struck six communities in Arkansas Sunday, killing four persons. Three others were drowned in swollen streams in the state. Included were two persons who lost their lives in a flash flood in Harrison, one of the hardest hit towns in the storm belt.

The twisters in Arkansas hit Midway, Whiteville, Clarkridge, Pindall, Summit and Oil Trough. Three persons were killed at Summit, near Yellville, and one person in Midway. About 40 homes were destroyed in a 20-mile area between Pindall and Yellville. Nineteen persons were hurt.

National Guardsmen were sent into Harrison, a community of 6,500, after Gov. Orval E. Faubus declared martial law. Crooked Creek overflowed and sent a wall of water 14 feet high through the streets of the northwest Arkansas town. Two men drowned and an elderly couple was missing in Harrison. Damage was estimated by Mayor Dene O. Hester at $5 to $10 million. A youth drowned in flooded Sugar Creek near Springdale, the seventh storm-related death in Arkansas.

Tornadoes also pounded South Fork, Mo., about 60 miles north-east of the severe storm area in Arkansas, injuring eight persons. A dozen persons were hurt in a tornado which hit an area of Kansas and Missouri adjoining Kansas city. Tornado winds lashed areas near Stamford, in west-central Texas, northern Oklahoma and in Madisonville, Ky.

Many rivers and streams, fed by heavy spring rains, overflowed across sections of Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Oklahoma and Missouri. The Missouri River was near flood stage at several points in Missouri.

R. F. Wilson, 62, Dies in Local Hospital

Robert Fred Wilson, aged 62, died Saturday in a local hospital. He is survived by his wife, five sons, J. C. of Orlando, Fla., E. E. of the U.S. Army, Glen, Jerry and Phillip D. Wilson all of Hope. Parsons, Mrs. Edward Muncy and Mrs. Cora Almond all of Hope and Mrs. Callie Stingley of Blevins.

Caroline Greeted the Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the youngest and most enthusiastic greeters of astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. in Washington today was Caroline Kennedy, 3-year-old daughter of the President.

Stationed on a balcony over the south entrance of the White House, Caroline waved excitedly as Shepard and his fellow astronauts arrived to meet President and Mrs. Kennedy.

As she spotted her mother greeting the arrivals, Caroline used the simple, direct approach employed by most healthy 3-year-olds to gain attention.

"Hey, mommy!" she cried.

Rubinoff Is Well Receive Here Friday

"Rubinoff and his Violin" cast a spell of enchantment over the 500 persons at his performance in the Hope High School Auditorium Friday night, May 5. From the first notes of his accompanist, John Atkins, "Revolutionary Etude" by Chopin to the final singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by a soul-stirred audience, the entire performance was magnificent.

The world-famous artist played a varied program, appealing to lovers of many kinds of music. His accomplished fingers seemed to coax the notes to perfection in the more melodic passages, while he often emphasized the lively numbers with a stomp of his foot or a dip of his body. With the magic touch of a true artist Rubinoff was able to let his instrument speak to his listeners.

Younger in years and experience but also highly skilled was the accompanist, John Atkins of Forest, Miss. His solo presentations were well received and his accompaniment of the featured artist was superb.

Both performers appeared at local grade schools during the day, at the Rotary Club at noon, and in a matinee performance at the high school in the afternoon. It was certainly a treat for the people of Hope to be able to hear such outstanding artists.

The program was presented under the auspices of the Hope Rotary Club and the club president, Ray Lawrence, welcomed the audience and introduced the performers. After expenses, the money derived from the sale of tickets will go to benefit the Rotary International Student Exchange Fund.

Mrs. Bonds, 79, of Blevins, Dies Saturday

Boy Saved by Angler's Line

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—A boy being swept out to sea was saved Sunday by an angler's line. The quick-thinking angler was fishing from a mole when he saw David Hubbard, 13, being swept away by an offshore current. He expertly cast the float on his line within David's reach. The boy seized the line and hung on until Arthur Shimmans, 38, dived in and pulled him out.

The angler refused to give police his name.

Harrison Hit by Water Wall 10 Feet High

By BOB HARING
HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Raging tornadoes and floods killed seven persons and caused up to $10 million in damage in Arkansas Sunday.

Four persons died in tornadoes which spun through six communities. Two drowned and two more were missing in a flash flood which ravaged Harrison. One man drowned in flood water near Springdale.

Heavy rains added a threat of major flooding on the White River in northeast Arkansas. The White was out of its banks at Batesville and Newport and still rising. Twelve persons were evacuated near Batesville.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus declared martial law in Harrison and sent more than 100 National Guardsmen and about 20 state troopers to patrol against looting.

The city was without water and he city was without water and doctors started mass inoculation today against typhoid. Schools were closed and most factories shut down.

Mayor Dene O. Hester pegged the damage in Harrison, 25 miles south of the Missouri state line at $5 million to $10 million.

Eighty per cent of the downtown business in the community of 6,500 persons were damaged. Normally placid Crooked Creek which flows just a block from the Harrison square was sent rampaging by five inches of rain in four hours early Sunday. It already had been swollen by five inches of rain earlier in the week and suddenly swept through and over protecting levees.

Water was 14 feet deep in most of the square at the peak. The current bent metal parking meter posts, toppled trees, smashed houses and floated cars and small buildings for a block or more.

It was the worst flood in the city's history.

City officials counted 30 families homeless, their houses demolished—either swept away by the surging water or washed off their foundations.

The bodies of Sherman Smith, 53, and Troy Paul, 60, a cripple, were found after the water receded from their shattered homes.

Searchers probed wreckage for Mr. and Mrs. C.J. McCutcheon after neighbors reported having heard them scream as the water swirled their frame house away. They had not been found.

Thirty miles east of Harrison, a tornado shattered more than 30 homes in the Yellville area. Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Boyle, 66 and 67, respectively, and Mrs. Nellie Wood, 60 died when the twister splintered their houses in the Summit community two miles from Yellville. Nine other persons were hurt.

At Midway between Newport and Searcy, Mrs. Sharline Frost, 26, of Manila, was killed when a tornado crumpled the home of a brother where she was visiting.

Harold Evans, 19, of Springdale, drowned when he fell into swollen Sugar Creek while trying to dislodge debris and logs jammed against a bridge near Springdale. Tornadoes also tore through Whiteville and Clarkridge in Baxter County, Pindall in Searcy County, Oil Trough in Independence County, and Corning in Clay County.

The Crooked Creek flood which ravaged Harrison later temporarily flooded Highway 62 near Yellville. One resident said it was the biggest flood in that area since 1927.

A bridge washout blocked Highway 68 west of Harrison. Damage was heaviest in Harrison. Many stores lost all their

Can't Stop Thinking
About Other Woman

BY HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My husband became involved with another woman and told me about it, saying the affair ended a year ago. I asked him why he did it and he said he didn't know except maybe she chased him. We have three children. My husband and I always got along. He tells me he loves me and he's real good to us. There are so many questions I would like to ask. Every time I start he says, "Forget it!" He says this woman was the first to come between us and would be the last. She was my best friend. He feels better now he told me—like getting a heavy burden off his shoulders. But it sure hurts me. What should I do?—Worried and Hurt

Dear Worried and Hurt: You have these alternatives: Leave your husband, talk your worries out, bury the shabby episode and be thankful your husband has enough moral courage to 'fess up. I'm sorry he tried to shift responsibility by blaming the other woman. Write this "best friend" off and don't say why.

Dear Helen: Our daughter and I read your column every day. She will soon be leaving home to enter the university, is well balanced, capable of making wise decisions and has been guided in home and in social life. Her spiritual background is firm, her fond friends and relatives many. Is there anything else in the way of advice, training or just plain common sense talks that we can do to prepare her for this new life?

She has a great deal of poise and charm for an 18-year-old but is reserved and timid about facing such a big new world. We would save her every heartache possible but do realize that the wise course is to prepare her to meet rough spots with courage. We love our child and would like to see her go forth with banners flying!

—A. L. E.
Dear A. L. E.: Would that all parents showed your sensitivity! Your daughter is lucky. One thing strikes me, however; you say she is timid about facing the world. She should take a temporary job this summer to gain confidence. It will be best if it be in her chosen field.

Dear Helen: I am 14. My parents divorced last year—mother remarried; father remained single. I don't like my stepfather but mother wants me to stay with her. The court won't let me unless I have my own bedroom.

That isn't possible.

Dad wants me with him. At the moment I am with my eldest brother and his wife. I like it here. Dad gives mother an allowance for my brother and me. She keeps it. What should I do?—Lonely.

Dear Lonely: This is a matter for the court. Ask your brother to check with the judge who granted your parents a divorce.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Keystones of the Home."

stock. Store windows gave way under the water and some walls of stores and factories collapsed. A service station building was carried a block and a half and deposit on the lawn of the Boone County Courthouse in the middle of the square.

Another building floated a block from its foundation.

At two auto agencies, the water stacked new cars like jackstraws. At one firm, 21 cars floated down an alley into a jumbled heap.

A wall of a casket warehouse collapsed and the flood swept heavy metal caskets into a field a block away.

Dozens of residents were stranded in houses and businesses. Some were rescued by boats which circled the courthouse. Many persons huddled on roofs or upper floors until the flood abated.

threatened.

Twelve hours later, some low spots were still awash and water gushed down some streets.

The flood filled the city hall and damaged some records. A bank and savings and loan company were filled with 12 feet of water, but most records were unharmed.

Telephone communication was limited to emergency calls and much of Harrison was without electrical power. Yellville was isolated because of tornado-torn telephone lines.

Harrison officials estimated it would be four to five days before water service was fully restored and the water free from flood contamination. A National Guard water purifier was brought in from Russellville to provide a standby supply. Residents were warned to boil drinking water.

The flood washed out an Arkansas Power & Light Co. warehouse and repair equipment had to be brought in from Little Rock and other points. All power may not be restored for several days.

Mud up to four inches deep covered downtown streets. Shoes, bits of clothing, paper, pieces of furniture and other debris littered the town. In some places, it caught on tree branches or low-hanging power lines. Officers said persons keeping the flood-stricken merchandise would be prosecuted.

Some minor thefts were reported before the armed guardsmen sealed off the square.

Most of the tornado damage was in the Summit and Pinal communities. None of those injured near Yellville was believed seriously hurt. They are Mrs. Virginia Massey, 35; Mr. and Mrs. Al McGarity, and a 6-year-old grandson; Mr. and Mrs. George Dean; Jack McCracken and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McIntire.

At Midway, Mrs. Frost's husband, Army Sgt. Joe Frost Jr., 30, and two sons, Donnie Joe, 7, and Michael 5, were injured. So was J.W. Whitner 84, father-in-law of Wesley Sherill, whom the Frosts were visiting.

Mrs. Loretta Conkin, 85, also was hurt in the Midway storm which destroyed seven houses, a grocery store-service station and a Baptist Church.

The twister then slacked off. Trough, 10 miles northeast, destroyed five houses and damaging others.

At least three houses and a store were destroyed and up to 50 other buildings were damaged in a tornado which swirled through the Whiteville and Clarridge areas.

The Corning tornado damaged two farmhouses three miles west of Corning and wrecked some barns and outbuildings in the Noble community, five miles south of town.

Space Traveler

from the President, a motorcade to Capitol Hill and congratulations from Congress await America's first space man today.

Beside these expressions of a nation's gratitude, a personal welcome also is in store for Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr.—the first reunion with his family since he was rocketed 115 miles into space last Friday.

The public tribute will be warm, but muted in tone. There will be no formal parade; no bands will play.

But proudly, the United States will thank him for taking the nation's first step into space. The exaltation may pose a greater challenge to Shepard's monumental calmness than the pioneering space trip.

Associates at Grand Bahama Island, where Shepard relaxed over the weekend, said they thought the test pilot was more apprehensive about facing the public acclaim and ceremony than his space flight.

Trying to keep a lid on the celebration, National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Shepard's feat, thrilling though it was, was just a first step and that there was no time for self-congratulation.

Thus, the agency ruled out any other public appearances and New York City's hopes for a ticker

Asks Laws to Desegregate All Schools

BY JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration asks Congress today for legislation to hasten desegregation of all racially segregated public schools.

Every school board operating a racially segregated public school would be required to adopt a desegregation plan within six months and file it with the secretary of welfare.

The school desegregation proposal was among six civil rights bills ready for introduction by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. The six-point program is geared to carrying out the civil rights pledges of the 1960 Democratic platform.

Last September, President Kennedy, then the Democratic presidential candidate, appointed Clark and Celler as a committee of two to put the platform promises on civil rights into legislative form.

The desegregation plans would have to provide for "first-step compliance" not later than the start of the 1963-64 school year. They also would have to spell out the time and manner in which desegregation was to be achieved in each class and school.

Federal technical and financial assistance would be given under the bill to desegregating school districts. Provision also would be made for court enforcement in case school boards violated the duties imposed on them by the legislation.

Teacher Raise to Be Only $300

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas teachers will get only $300 of a possible $700 raise next year, the head of the Arkansas Education Association said Saturday.

Forrest Rozzell, the group's executive secretary, said in the AEA Journal that there will be enough money for the $700 raise, but due to the policies of Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the recent legislature, teachers will not get it.

He said Faubus did not keep his promises on the amount of money to be given to teacher salaries, and that not all of the money available is going to teachers.

The single most deplorable educational fact in Arkansas, Rozzell said, "is that the average salary of the classroom teachers is the lowest in the nation."

Mass Terror Reports From Cuba Sources

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Reports of mass terror against opponents of Fidel Castro's regime are seeping out of Cuba despite a curtain of total censorship on news communications and mail.

These reports tell of suffering among thousands of detainees rounded up in the wake of the abortive anti-Castro invasion of mid-April. They tell of thousands inhumanely crowded, without food and sanitation, in detention centers; of uprisings born of desperation among the prisoners; bloodhounds and police dogs used to threaten the prisoners.

It is now confirmed that the regime has imposed complete censorship on all outgoing news messages, which must be cleared through the chief of telecommunications. Mail censorship, long in existence behind the scenes, now is out in the open. Huge piles of mail await censorship at the office of the telecommunications chief, apparently in charge of that job, too.

This is the story of what has been happening to thousands suspected of opposing the regime, as pieced together from the reports from the island:

Between 25,000 and 40,000 Cubans and foreigners, including a number of Americans, were rounded up in Havana alone after the invasion. The detainees were herded into requisitioned buildings, such as the Sports Palace and the Blanquita Theater.

At the Blanquita, there were between 6,000 and 7,500 prisoners, jammed into the auditorium, without any arrangements for food or sanitation. The only food available was that brought by relatives of persons held there.

Midway through the first week of their detention, prisoners were screaming for food, and fighting their way through a litter of filth and excrement for a chance to use the few toilets. Many became ill. At least three typhoid cases were reported.

Reports from those who saw it in person say that at one point the prisoners tried to rise up against their militia guards. Several shots were fired into the crowd. Two prisoners were wounded, but this failed to quiet the detainees.

Then bloodhounds and police dogs were paraded across the stage, and the militiamen threatened to turn the dogs on the prisoners if they failed to quiet down. The prisoners attempted another uprising, overwhelming some militia guards and seizing their weapons. But later young Castro militiamen entered the Blanquita to serve as guards, and met no trouble. Finally, in desperation, the detainees threatened to burn the theater and everyone in it if they were not given food and some decent sanitation. Shortly afterward Castro authorities began freeing some of those under detention and taking others elsewhere.

14.2 Million Bales Cotton During 1960

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department's final report today put the 1960 cotton crop at 14,272,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight and the combined value of cotton and cottonseed at $2,395,000,000.

The production figure was based largely on ginnings for the 900 bales for the 1959 crop and 13,710,000 for the ten-year (1949-58) average.

The value of the 1959 crop of cotton and cottonseed, by comparison, was put at $2,536,000,000.

The value of the 1960 cotton lint was reported at $215,516,000 compared with $230,365,000 for the 1959 crop and the value of the cottonseed was reported at $249,000,000.

CHAPTER XI

I crossed to a phone on the steel counter and dialed the operator. Cecil brought me a cup of coffee and began to beat the eggs. I had taken two sips of the hot coffee before I realized that the phone was dead. No dial tone, nothing. There was a directory on a shelf beneath the counter.

I decided that the county sheriff was the proper official to notify and dialed the number. The same as before. Dead. I replaced the phone and said to Cecil, "The phone's out of order."

He turned from the stove, his eyes puzzled. "It worked last night. Try the one in the study."

I went out and down the hall to the study. The phone there was dead, too. And the one in the library. I returned to the kitchen and asked Cecil, "Where do the wires come in?"

"On the west side, toward the highway, at the cornice near the last window, second floor."

I left the kitchen by a screened door, walked around the big house on the dew-wet grass, reached the front, pushed through a cluster of small fir trees and gazed upward. I saw where the telephone wires had gone in, but they weren't there now. All that remained were the insulators and short stubs of black cable. I looked down at the ground, expecting to see the loose wires lying there. They were not. I turned and gazed back through the trees toward the highway, spotted a tall wooden pole and went to it. The wires dangled from the top, with the excess length coiled around the base. A tidy job of wire cutting.

I walked swiftly back around the house and entered the kitchen. The screen door slammed behind me. Cecil turned and eyed me silently. "Wires cut," I said. "Where's the nearest phone?"

He swallowed. "On the highway, maybe two miles from here, a gas station—"

"None closer?"

"Yes. Down the beach, but it's rough going—rocks, underbrush, and you'll have to wade when you round the point. The McKinney place. Or you could take one of the boats."

"You decide," I said. "Just get to a phone and call the sheriff. I'll be down on the beach."

He put down the spatula. "All right, Jim," he said quietly. "I'll drive to the gas station. You watch the eggs." He moved to the door without removing his white jacket.

I said, "Whose room is by that cornice where the phone wires come in?"

He paused with a hand against the screen. "Mr. Stockmaster's."

"Okay. Get going—and hurry back."

He started to speak, but apparently changed his mind. The screen door slammed behind him.

I didn't watch the eggs. I could see they were done, scrambled in milk the way I like them. I turned them once, put the electric burner on low heat and left the kitchen.

I stalked the long hall, entered the elevator and pressed the "2" button.

On the second floor I left the elevator and walked past the closed doors to my room, where I hurriedly dressed. Then I went out and straight down to the end of the hall to where Cecil had told me Julius Stockmaster's room was located.

I knocked. No answer. I tried the knob. The door was not locked and I pushed it open slowly. I even looked under the bed. No Stockmaster. I went out, closed the door and stood in the silent hall.

Down in the silent kitchen I spooned a few mouthfuls of scrambled eggs from the pan, finished the now cold coffee which Cecil had poured for me and went out to the terrace.

My friend, the little brown dog, was waiting for me, wagging his 777,000 and $232,115,000 respectively.

The acreage planted last year totaled 16,080,000 acres compared with 15,833,000 in 1959. The acreage harvested last year was 15,309,000 and 15,117,000 acres respectively.

Cottonseed production was 5,586,400 tons last year compared with 5,991,000 in 1959.

The yield per harvested acre last year was 446 pounds compared with 461 in 1959.

The average price growers received for 1960 crop cotton was reported at 30.1 cents a pound compared with 31.65 for the 1959 crop. The average price received for cottonseed was $42.50 and $38.20 a ton respectively.

Arkansas harvested 1,320,000 acres, had a yield of 485 pounds per harvested acre and a production of 1,339,000 bales.

Detroit Takes Pair, Extends American Lead

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit stretched its winning League Sunday by sweeping a streak to five and opened a 2½ game lead in the American doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 3-6 and 5-3 as the New York Yankees lost 5-3 to Los Angeles.

In other Sunday games Cleveland and Washington split. The Indians took the first game 4-2 and Washington the second 4-3. Boston beat Minnesota 11-9 in a single and Kansas City beat Baltimore 5-4 in 10 innings in the first of a scheduled twin bill. The second game was rained out.

In the National League San Francisco held tight to first place by shutting out Philadelphia 7-0. Cincinnati won its eighth straight by dumping Milwaukee twice 5-4 and 4-0. Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 4-2 and St. Louis downed Chicago 4-2 in a five-inning game.

The Yankees, who live by the home run died by the home run over the weekend when the Angels beat them with their own weapon. The friendly fences proved too handy for the Angels who hit seven home runs to the Yanks' four in the three-game series. Instead of a tape measure for Mickey Mantle's clouts they needed a statistician to figure that 0 for 11 dropped his average from .348 to .299.

Leon Wagner, rescued from the International League by his old boss, Manager Bill Rigney, drove in three runs with a two-run homer and double in a 5-3 Los Angeles victory Sunday. Wagner also hit two homers and a triple in Saturday night's Angel triumph.

Albie Pearson, who also homered Saturday, and Gene Leek joined Wagner Sunday while Yogi Berra and Johnny Blanchard hit the ball out of the park for the Yanks.

Detroit's rollicking Tigers opened up a 2½ game lead while the Yanks were having their troubles on the West Coast. The Tigers bopped Chicago twice 8-6 and 5-3, running their own winning streak to five and the Sox' losing string to seven. The double defeat put Chicago into 10th and last place.

Rookie Chuck Schilling knocked in six runs with a grand slam homer and a two-run double in Boston's 11-9 decision over the Minnesota Twins. Harmon Killebrew homered twice for the Twins.

Kansas City shaded Baltimore 5-4 in 10 innings on Norm Siebern's single in the first game. Rain washed out the second.

Cleveland's Wynn Hawkins got the Tribe away to a 4-2 first game victory over Washington on a four-hitter. The Senators got an even break 4-3 on Gene Woodling's three-run homer, his second of the day, and Willie Tasby's clutch single.

Those Tigers show no signs of letting up. They haven't lost a series this year and slashed a total of 50 hits in a four-game sweep over the White Sox.

Roy Sievers hit two homers for the Sox in the opener, one of them with the bases full, but the Tigers came up with five in the seventh and scored the winning run on Bob Shaw's wild pitch. Jake Wood added an insurance run with a homer in the eighth.

Rocky Colavito homered in the second game as Phil Regan went all the way with an eight-hitter, beating Cal McLish.

Schilling was the big noise for the Red Sox with his grand slammer in the fourth and double in the eighth as Mike Fornieles won on relief over Camilo Pascual.

They started the second game in Kansas City but had to stop play in the third with the A's leading 2-0 because of the rain. Siebern's winning hit in the 10th

Heads Up, Blue Jays!--Operation Spring-Time

PICTURE SHOWS WHAT WAS GOING ON ABOUT 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the backyard of the Frank J. Mason residence, 1301 S. Elm St. — the editor was trying to photograph a four-bird nest of young blue jays.

THE MANSIONS HAD REPORTED THAT THEIR NEST WAS "accessible" — which on our arrival at the scene proved to be a rugged exaggeration. The nest was on a limb 15 feet up a pine tree. The editor came back up town for the shop's 10-foot step ladder and a pair of hedge-snippers to clear away foliage that interfered with a good view of the nest.

THEN THE ACROBATICS STARTED. EVERY TIME WE set up for a camera shot the young birds jumped out of the nest and fluttered to the ground. And, every time they jumped, the mama bird swooped down on the editor, clinging to the top of the ladder, and hammered his head . . . but good!

DOWN THE LADDER WE CAME, AND WITH MR. MASON picked up the young birds and replaced them in the nest. Then they would jump out again. Finally we got the picture as shown — with one rebel, as usual, standing outside the nest and debating another jump.

YOUNG BLUE JAYS ARE LIKE THEIR PARENTS — fearless. When we picked them up they grabbed a finger tightly and rode serenely back to the nest — and just as serenely jumped out again.

Truce Team Arrives for Talks in Laos

By DONALD E. HUTH

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The three-nation Laotian truce commission was scheduled to arrive in Vientiane today and there were hopes it would spur the lagging negotiations between the Western-royal government and the pro-Communist rebels.

So far the opposing factions have not even been able to agree on a site for military and political talks. Both the government and the rebels proclaimed a cease-fire last Wednesday, but three meetings between military representatives since then have failed to work out detailed conditions of the armistice.

About 200 Indian, Canadian and Polish diplomats and soldiers are coming to Laos to supervise and verify the cease-fire. They will separate into two groups, one based at Vientiane and the other at Xieng Khouang, the rebel capital in northeastern Laos.

The royal government has been trying to divorce military details of the cease-fire from the bigger political issues—formation of a coalition government and selection of a unified Laotian delegation to attend the international conference on Laos opening in Geneva Friday.

The rebels want both military and political matters to be discussed together at Na Mone, inside their territory and 35 miles north of the Hin Heup cease-fire line.

When the rebels rejected government demands that military talks be held at Hin Heup, the government agreed to talk at Na Mone. But it insisted that the political talks should take place at Phon Hong, 15 miles south of the cease-fire line and inside government-controlled territory.

Redlegs Win 8 in Row to Go Into 2nd

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati made it eight in a row Sunday and climbed into second place in the National League. The Reds swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 5-4 and 4-0. First place San Francisco blanked Philadelphia 7-0. Los Angeles beat Pittsburgh 4-2 and St. Louis took Chicago 4-2.

Cincinnati turned on the home run power when four out of five batters — Frank Robinson, Wally Post, Leo Cardenas and Gordy Coleman — hit Warren Spahn for homers in a 5-4 first game victory over Milwaukee. Jim O'Toole then shut out the Braves with five hits 4-0 in the second game.

Billy Loes, the unpredictable one, pitched the league-leading San Francisco Giants to a 7-0 triumph, holding the Philadelphia Phillies to seven hits. Loes, a relief man when he was traded to the Giants by Baltimore in November 1959, now has a 3-1 record as a starter and a 3.50 earned run average. A year ago his ERA was 12.00.

Los Angeles flexed its muscles at Pittsburgh where homers by Charlie Neal, Norm Larker and Frank Howard gave the Dodgers a 4-2 decision over the defending world champs. Sandy Koufax, with fine relief help from Larry Sherry, was the winner over George Witt, making his first start for the Pirates.

St. Louis' Ernie Broglio retired the last 14 men in a row as the Cardinals climbed up to the .500 mark by beating Chicago 4-2 in a game called after five innings because of rain. A scheduled second game was washed out.

In the American League, Detroit opened up a 2½-game lead on New York by taking a doubleheader from Chicago 8-6 and 5-3 while the Yankees were losing to Los Angeles 5-3. Chuck Schilling drove in six runs in Boston's 11-9 victory over Minnesota. Kansas City shaded Baltimore 5-4 in 10 innings. Their second game was rained out. Cleveland won the first from Washington 4-2 on Wynn Hawkins' four-hitter but the Senators took the second 4-3 on Gene Woodling's hitting.

Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey backed up Loes' pitching by hitting home runs at Philadelphia. Cepeda's fifth of the year came with two on in the fourth run sixth inning, dooming Robin Roberts to his fifth straight defeat.

The Reds exploded against Spahn in the eighth and ninth, just when the 40-year-old lefty appeared headed for his fourth victory and 53rd shutout. Leading

Porks Good on Offense in Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) —

The Arkansas Razorbacks have one more week to bring their defensive football skills up to the high standard of their offense. Saturday the Reds beat the White team first intra-squad scrimmage. Coach Frank Broyles was pleased with the offense, but said the defense had a long way to go.

This Saturday night, the Red and White met in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium in the second and final Red-White game. Fans can expect less scoring.

Each team scored once in every quarter last week and the regulation game ended 23-23. Broyles ordered an unorthodox overtime period to settle the family argument.

Halfback Paul Dudley took a

4-0 with one out, Spahn gave up homers to Robinson and Post before he retired Gene Freese. In the ninth the first two up, Cardenas and Coleman applied the crusher.

O'Toole left 12 Braves on the bases and struck out seven while winning his third game.

Koufax ran into trouble in the seventh at Pittsburgh but Sherry bailed him out in fine style. Witt retired the first 16 Dodgers before throwing up a home run ball to Neal in the sixth. Larker hit a two-run homer in the seventh and Frank Howard slammed his fifth of the year in the same inning.

Broglio had a rough first inning when the Cubs scored two runs but settled down for the rest of the abbreviated contest. Julian Javier's two-run double in the second was the winner.

punt on his 10 yard line and returned it 90 yards for the touchdown that won the game for the Reds.

Dudley scored another touch down for the Red on a 24-yard pass from quarterback George McKinney. Quarterback Billy Moore scored twice for the White on runs of 13 and 1 yards.

"We'll spend the balance of next week's practice and the early weeks next fall working on defense alone," Broyles said. "We've got to have a second unit to play southwest Conference ball."

Dudley was joined in the 90-yard return club by Darrell Williams, who returned a kickoff 90-yards in the fourth quarter. He tied the game 28-28 with 2:10 left. That was just after the Reds had gone ahead on a 58-yard touchdown drive capped by quarterback Fred Marshall, fullback Frank Blow and McKinney, all on one-yard runs.

The other White score was Harold Horton's one-yard run. Jim Grizzle kicked four extra points for the Reds and Tony McNelly kicked two for the Whites. Moore ran on conversion. McKinney hit on 9 of 14 passes for 111 yards and Moore hit on 6 of 15 for 75 yards.
